Rowing down the Aa river is a 25-km tour from Houlle to Gravelines. You will depart from the Houlle river within the Audomarois marsh. The Bistade drawbridge is lifted to the sound of horns when boats are passing, attracting many an onlooker. The rowers will be able to admire the fauna (mallard ducks, herons, swans ...) and flora all along the journey down the small river. The tour will be ended by a friendly drink and a meal taken within the Gravelines Aviron club, the premises of which are located on the edge of the Olympic rowing arena.

PROVISIONAL PLANNING

Possibility of discovering Gravelines, evening meal free then night at the accommodation center.

On Sunday morning, boat preparation on the departure spot in Houlle for a launching at about 9.30 AM, then a 4-km tour on the Houlle river to Watten before joining the Aa river, first on the large gauge canal, then 2 km further away, on a wilder part to Gravelines.

Each crew will be given a souvenir from the North region. Non-rowers can bike and follow the tour (bikes not provided).
